"Not your collar—it's you."

HER ARMS—
Seldom does an old man get led in the arms of a lady. I had that experience the day out at Red Hill Country Club. Out of a ravine on to green, twice out of the rough the hole, sixteen strokes on holes and ended up with 47 for the nine.
My luck was her name, but is firm in the opinion that a golf player I make a fine digger.

OW, DANGER—
There are a lot of folks in town who are going to drive slower now on. Traffic Officer Lehman has just purchased a Packard that looks like essence of speed and so that is the case the rest of us will have a little easy on the highways about the city.

WEEK CURTAILMENT OF GRAPE SALES

and of More Careful Packing and Handling of Fruit Seen—State or Railway Inspection Urged

Members of the California Vine Association, District No. 8, urged to hold their grape sales to the east as low as possible for the present in order reasonable prices may be obtained on the markets, at a hearing of the grape clearing house committee, held Saturday at the Ontario Chamber of Commerce.

F. Alwell, chief of the state inspection department, was principal speaker. He discussed laws regulating the shipment of juice and table grapes. The speaker emphasized the need of more careful packing and handling of grapes. The best fruit receives the best prices, he declared. The speaker urged the need of state or way inspection of all grapes shipped, holding that shippers did benefit ultimately through adoption of such a regulation. A total of 338 carloads of grapes were shipped from this district during the past week, according to Ralph L. Cason, who is directing the shipments. He reported plenty of cars on hand for shipments during the present week.

Charles Latimer, district chairman, presided at the meeting. A. Hughes of Ontario is vice president of the organization.

NEW SERVICE HEAD ASSUMES DUTIES

Austin Burt, new Ontario city vice manager, this week of ally assumed his duties at the office of the service departments the Ontario City Hall.
Mr. Burt succeeds Otto S. Roen, who held the post for six years in marked satisfaction. He recently resigned to accept the position of city manager for South Pasadena, being the one selected that post from a list of 47 applicants.

Mr. Roen's tenure of office in Ontario followed that of Fred E. Ford, who was convicted of embezzling the city out of some $10,000. Mr. Roen supervised many important improvements in the city during the past six years. Installation of the new 10,000-gallon water reservoir at 15th street was one of the outstanding improvements during his term of office and installation of a splendid new electrolight system, now nearing completion, is due in no small measure the efforts of the retiring service manager.

Mr. Burt comes to Ontario from Pomona, but formerly resided in

Entire Board Returned To Office—Nielsen To Manage Plant Again—545 Cars Citrus Fruit Shipped By Upland Citrus Association During Season Just Closed

A total of 545 cars of citrus fruit was shipped by the Upland Citrus Association during the season just closed, figures submitted by A. J. Nielsen, plant manager, at the annual meeting of growers and directors at the plant Saturday, disclosed.

This number of cars netted the shippers $597,031.34. Due to the windstorm of early in the year, these returns are less than the previous year, when they were $763,001.03, according to Nielsen's figures.

Late Pool Not Included
Of the 545 cars shipped, 398 were navel oranges, 106 valencias, 21 grapefruit and the rest miscellaneous varieties. The late pool of valencias is not represented in these figures, according to Nielsen.

C. T. Cassell, president of the Exchange Orange Products Company, was the principal speaker at the meeting. H. B. Harlow, manager of the O. K. Exchange, was also on the speaking program.

Return Old Board
Annual election resulted in the entire executive board being returned to office. Officers include George Laidlaw, president; W. F. Naffel, vice-president; W. B. Cavers, W. H. Tuttle, C. E. Wetherbee, directors, and Archie J. Nielsen, secretary-treasurer and manager.

At noon dinner was served in the Upland Woman's Clubhouse, to 300 growers and their families.

Mrs. J. E. Sargent, president of the Woman's Club, and Mrs. W. S. Avery comprised the serving committee. Mrs. J. Waterman was in charge of the dinner.

CHAFFEY JUDGING TEAM IS WINNER

Again demonstrating the remarkable results achieved in the agricultural department at Chaffey Union High School and Junior College, the Chaffey livestock judging team won first place in the Southern California junior judging contest at the Southern California Fair at Riverside.

Chaffey won over Lancaster of Antelope Valley, which school was only three points behind the winning score of 1663 points.

The judging contests were conducted as a feature of "Farm Bureau Day." Fifteen schools had entered teams in the competition.

Lutz Is High Man
Harold Lutz, member of the Chaffey team, won high individual honors.

As a reward for their fine showing at Riverside, the Chaffey team will compete with winning teams of the northern part of the state at California Agricultural College at Davis later this month.

Riverside county schools made a good showing in the judging of dairy cattle. Beaumont, Riverside and Hemet high schools placed high in the totals.

Perrin Is Coach
Charles A. Perrin is coach of the Chaffey judging teams. He has had great success in turning out prize-winning teams.

On the successful squad at Riverside were Royal Phillips, Harold Lutz and Brooks Kitchell. James Sprague was alternate.

ROSS WITT HELD RESPONSIBLE FOR CHRISTIAN'S DEATH

Amended Complaint Issued By District Attorney's Office—Attorney A. D. Mitchell To Represent Witt In Trial—Hearing is Scheduled For October 11th

An amended complaint of manslaughter was filed against Ross "Tex" Witt of Upland by the district attorney's office Saturday, holding him responsible for the death of his brother-in-law, R. W. Peterson as well as R. D. Christian, who died Friday morning at San Antonio Community Hospital, following several weeks there.

Witt will appear in San Bernardino county court for hearing October 11. He is represented by Attorney A. D. Mitchell, Ontario.

The two men died from injuries received in an automobile accident at the intersection of Fourth street and Campus avenue, the evening of September 2.

Witt was driver of the death car which was traveling south on Campus avenue, when it struck Christian's car broadside.

Two Escape Injuries

The first manslaughter charge was filed against Witt by E. P. Onderdonk, Ontario policeman, who investigated the crash.

Christian failed to regain full consciousness from the moment of the crash until his death Friday. His wife and child miraculously escaped death in the accident. Their home is at 748 East Fourth avenue.

DR. C. P. MENGLE CLUB SPEAKER

The 20-30 Club of Upland held its regular weekly meeting at the Davis Cafe last night. President Tweed Stone presiding.

Kenneth Allen, chairman of entertainment, introduced Dr. C. P. Mengle as the speaker of the evening. Dr. Mengle brought a chart of the construction of the human eye and proceeded to explain the construction of the eye and how it works.

In an average ten hours, the eye moves 30,000 times and carries the biggest load of any organ of the body.

Dr. Mengle told the difference between an oculist, optician and an optometrist. The Optometric Association of California are sponsoring a class of their profession at Berkeley and maintain a chair there for that purpose. The talk was highly instructive and very interesting.

Spontaneous craft talks were given by several unsuspecting members. Walter Hastings was called upon to talk about the coming Presidential Election. Ronald Poole spoke on the effect of a Presidential Election on business at large and Elno Steiner spoke on the approaching World Series Baseball games.

Jess Holcar was the guest of Isalah Steiner last night.

SCOUTMASTERS TO MEET AT CHAFFEY

First meeting of the Chaffey Scoutmasters' Club is to be held Thursday, October 6th at 6:30, at the Chaffey Model Flat where dinner is to be served. The scout masters are to exchange ideas and adopt plans for the coming year's work.

Informal court will be held at Chaffey Cafeteria at 7:30 and Scouts who have badges coming will be there.

Organization of the Drum and Bugle Corps takes place today and Scout Executive Lucas believes the corps will be a success this year.

Upland Troop No. 3 has an unusual record in that out of twenty-two enrollment fourteen are rated as first class.

Peter Guthrie has been appointed District Commissioner to fill the vacancy caused by A. B. Whitney being absent in Europe. Norville Jordan has been appointed by the Lions' Club to succeed Mr. Guthrie as Scoutmaster of Upland Troop No. 1.

SOLO FLIGHT IS MADE BY DRIVER

Harvey McMasters Waits and Waits For Fire Alarm, Only To Skid In Systematic Procedure—No Harm Done, But Friends Rub It In

Harvey McMasters, famous here as the father of twins and a member of the city mail delivery as well as substitute driver on the fire department states that all his jobs are easy with the exception of the fire department job.

When McMasters first took the position it worried him, and for many hours he devoted his thought to mapping out just what he would do when an alarm of fire came in. Hour after hour he served; day after day; night after night; all had passed into history with McMasters serving as substitute driver—still no call.

On Sunday the call came. Like Paul Revere of old he jumped to the saddle and with a roar he rumped out of the fire station on his way to 753 Second avenue. Reaching the point where the volunteer members of the department usually "hop" the apparatus, he found not a member on hand. Dashing north on Second to 753 there was no commotion, no smoke and so he disturbed Amos Colborn's Sunday morning sleep and asked him where the fire was.

"Don't know," said Colborn, "didn't even hear the alarm."

Dashing back to the station McMasters first turned in the alarm, then called central who informed him that the alarm call came from south of the Santa Fe and it must have been from 1753 Second avenue, which is in Ontario's territory.

McMasters felt much better as recent orders are to the effect that Upland Department goes into Ontario territory only when Ontario department chiefs call for assistance.

Friends of McMasters are having considerable fun at his expense, but he states his jobs are somewhat confusing. At home when the twins want something they set off the alarm and when service in the city mail delivery isn't satisfactory the patrons do the roaring—and this job is one where he should first make a helluva noise, then go to work.

HUSBAND CUTS UP WIFE'S CAR

Allegedly jealous because his wife has a car and he has none, E. W. Meriwether, 62, Alta Loma rancher, proceeded to chop up Mrs. Meriwether's sedan with an axe Saturday afternoon.

Upland police officers were called and on arriving at the ranch found that Meriwether had broken all of the car windows, sliced through the fenders and cut up a new tire, and was reported to have threatened to treat Mrs. Meriwether as he had her machine.

Charged with disturbing the peace, he was lodged in the Upland jail by Police Officer Carmen Lehman and Special Officer Harold Anderson of the local department. After a conference between Meriwether, Chief of Police J. F. Sawyer and Mrs. Meriwether, Meriwether promised to restore the damaged car, his wife dropped the charge, and he was released.

The car is owned by Mrs. Meriwether, she declared, and stated that her husband has resented her possession for some time, as he does not have a machine.

COFFIN LEASES DULEY BUILDING

W. S. Coffin, formerly a resident of Upland, and for the last eight years head of the hardware department of the Drew Carriage Company at Ontario, has leased the former Duley Building at the corner of First avenue and A street and will conduct a transfer, feed and fuel business.

The deal was closed last week and the new place of business opened Monday. An advertisement in another column will prove of interest to News readers.

BETTER SERVICE GIVEN IN AIR MAIL TO POINTS EAST

Last Dispatch of Air Mail Extended To 8 P. M.—More Help To Be Granted Upland Office by Department—Business Houses Well Pleased Over Change

A much needed improvement in the mail service for Upland was granted effective October 3. The last dispatch of mail for points east, west and north will close at 8 P. M., which is three hours later than the last dispatch prior to the above date.

This means much for the user of air mail as the last dispatch had been 5 P. M., but now all air mail dropped in the Upland office not later than 8 P. M. will be dispatched by air plane from Los Angeles the next morning at 7:45, arriving in Chicago at 5:45 A. M. and New York at 7 P. M. the next day. Air mail for the north will be dispatched from Los Angeles at 12:01 A. M. arriving at San Francisco at 5:15 A. M. and at Seattle 2 P. M. the same day.

This later dispatch will be of benefit to the banks and business houses as this mail will catch the early morning delivery in Los Angeles, mail for San Francisco will be speeded up about twelve hours. Mail for the Imperial Valley points will arrive about ten hours earlier.

In order to make this later dispatch it was necessary for the Post Office Department to grant the Upland office more help, and a change in the working schedule of several employees. Postmaster Kirk hopes as soon as the new schedules are working smoothly that he will be able to open the stamp window service thirty minutes earlier.

CONDEMNATION OF RIGHT OF WAY ON

Vigorous prosecution of condemnation proceedings against T. M. Henry, owner of property involved, in connection with plans for the extension and widening of Bonnie Brae street from Euclid to Palm avenue, was ordered by the Ontario city council in regular session at the Ontario City Hall last night.

At present Bonnie Brae, which runs west from Euclid between Fifth and Sixth, is a dead-end street.

Extension of the street was ordered some time ago, but action has been held up by Mr. Henry, who responded with a counter proposal regarding a sewer on which the council and he were unable to get together.

On motion of Police Commissioner R. D. Newton, the salary of Chief of Police Arthur Axley was raised from $160 to $175 a month.

Installation of an electric siren whistle to replace the present fire bell for the calling of members of the Ontario Volunteer Fire Department in case of fire, was ordered. Under terms of the contract, the installing company will allow the city a 30-day trial before purchase.

The Ontario Council also voted in favor of affiliating with the Colorado River Aqueduct Association and appropriated $115 to aid in financing a suit to test the validity of the Metropolitan Water District Act, under which the association would obtain its water.

FAREWELL FOR PASTOR FRIDAY

A farewell gathering in honor of Rev. Gross Alexander and Mrs. Alexander will be held Friday evening in Crowell Hall of the Methodist Episcopal church to which members of the church and congregation as well as residents of the city are invited.

P. C. Buffington will act as program chairman and following the program refreshments will be served.

Rev. Alexander will tell of the organization plan for the broadcasting station to be sponsored by the Southern District Methodist Conference.

An interesting musical program will also be given.

G. A. R. POST WILL KEEP ORGANIZAT'N

"Will Continue Until Last Man Dies," Is Consensus of Opinion At Fifteenth Annual Picnic Meeting

In spite of its rapidly diminishing ranks, Ontario Post, Grand Army of the Republic, of which Alois Podrasnik of Upland is commander, will not disband, it was announced today following the annual picnic of the post and Women's Relief Corps at the delightful ranch home of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Long.

The matter of disbanding was discussed, but decided against.

"The G. A. R. should continue until the last man dies" was the way one speaker expressed it and this sentiment met with the hearty accord of those assembled at the annual picnic. When the members became too aged and infirm to attend regular meetings, they still have the feeling that they belong to an organization and have the loyalty of their remaining comrades, it was pointed out.

The picnic was the fifteenth annual event to be staged at the Long ranch. Only six of the "boys in blue" attended this occasion, as against 39 fifteen years ago.

Following a picnic dinner beneath the trees, Mrs. Princess Long gave a charming program of Southern songs, accompanied on the guitar by Mr. Long.

Speakers at a brief memorial program in honor of those who have passed on included Post Commander Podrasnik and A. K. Baldwin, commander of Pomona post.

Mrs. E. R. Alter read a report of the picnic meeting held fifteen years ago.

SHIP 26 CARS OF ORANGES, LEMONS

Sixteen cars of valencias, 9 cars of lemons and one car of grapefruit were shipped to eastern markets from west end packing houses last week.

Upland O. K. Exchange sent 14 cars of valencias, 9 cars of lemons and 1 car of grapefruit to the east.

Two cars of valencias went out from the American Fruit Growers' Exchange, Upland.

Upland O. K. expects to ship about the same number of cars this week, which will practically close their season on valencias.

The Upland plant of the American Fruit Growers' Exchange will ship no cars of fruit this week, it was said.

San Antonio Orchard Company, Ontario, has closed its season on valencias, was the word from that plant.

BOOZE PUTS FIVE IN UPLAND COURT

Two drunks, two others of liquor possession, and one reckless driver were in the Upland police bag over the week-end.

B. Castro, 29, and S. Ortiz, 33, were arrested on charges of being intoxicated. They both pleaded guilty and were fined $30 or given 30 days in jail. They were taken to jail yesterday afternoon as their fines were not forthcoming.

Manuel Solzo, 25, was arrested on a charge of driving while intoxicated.

Buis Macial, 21, and Antonio Elongue, 20, were arrested and charged with possession of liquor.

AGRICULTURAL CLUB CONVENTION POSTPONED

The Farm Advisors office has just received word from Professor B. H. Crocherson, director of Agricultural Extension, University of California, that the annual convention of boys and girls agricultural clubs scheduled for October 13 to 15 at Davis, California, has been postponed. This is on account of an epidemic of infantile paralysis which prevails in a number of sections of California.

The postponing of the convention will be a disappointment to a number of club members who had hoped to attend from San Bernardino county.

HUNTERS RETURN FROM SUCCESSFUL TRIP TO NORTH

Deer, Bears and Fish Result of Trip To Humboldt and Trinity Counties—Leigh Thompson, R. H. Henderson and R. T. Lovell In Party

Leigh Thompson, known among his friends as "Sure Shot Dick," accompanied by R. H. Henderson of Upland and R. T. Lovell of Long Beach, arrived home Sunday from Northern California where they enjoyed a two weeks' hunt and fishing outing. Each of the hunters got a buck and a bear and plenty of trout.

The territory covered was about sixty miles east of Eureka on the line between Humboldt and Trinity counties on the south fork of the Trinity River.

The party report conditions ideal in the northern woods while they were there. Cool frosty nights and balmy warm days and maples and dog wood trees were taking on their fall brilliance of colors.

The last part of the trip was marred to some extent by the member of another party being lost in the woods for four days and three nights. Intensive search on the part of all available men failed to find the wanderer, his tracks being wiped out by rain. He finally found his own way out to the river much the worse for the wear but not in a serious condition.

Other pastors named for nearby points at the Conference are as follows: Ontario, First, L. A. Ferris; Grace, D. L. Mounts; Cucamonga, Donald Carey; Rialto, E. N. Askey; San Bernardino, W. C. Loomis; San Dimas, E. Sedgewick; Chino, Geo. L. Goodell; Colton, R. I. McKee; Covina, Geo. Steed.

C. S. Reynolds, son of W. C. Reynolds of the Reynolds-Harnish Dry Goods Company has been named associate pastor to Harry Shepherd of the Glendale Central church.

In speaking of Rev. Stavelly, who is coming to Upland, Rev. Gross Alexander pays him high tribute and states he is a man of unusual ability and will make the Upland church an ideal pastor.

"AMERICANS ALL" PAGEANT STAGED AT CHAFFEY 14TH

Event Under Auspices of San Antonio Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution—One Hundred To Appear In Cast

What promises to be one of the most interesting events of the early fall season in the West End is the pageant to be staged on the evening of October 14 at Chaffey Auditorium under the auspices of San Antonio Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution. Plans for the event were announced today.

"Americans All" is the title of the pageant and it is being staged by the D. A. R. for the benefit of the Americanization work of the Chaffey district, which has made such splendid strides in recent years under the direction of Chaffey High School and Junior College.

More than 100 will appear in the cast of the pageant, which is being directed by Miss Mary Blaisdell of Pomona College.

The pageant is made up of a prologue and five episodes. It will depict the various peoples which have gone to make up the nation of today from the time of the earliest settlers on the Atlantic coast down to the great California immigration.

Mrs. Harry I. DeBerard, chapter regent and Mrs. W. Frank Lemon are supervising the staging of the prologue. Mrs. Jacob Jesson and Mrs. Harry N. Petch are in charge of the first episode; Mrs. E. W. Miller and Mrs. Edwin B. Keyt, the second; Mrs. H. S. Bailey and Mrs. Thomas R. Cummins, the third; Mrs. Earl Wetherbee and Mrs. Everett W. Henry, the fourth; and Mrs. Frank L. Allen and Mrs. Charles Walker, the fifth.

PASTORS RETURNED TO ONTARIO POSTS

Ontario Methodists learned today with general satisfaction that ministers of the churches of that city are returned to their respective charges for another year, following the annual conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, held yesterday at Long Beach.

Dr. Lincoln A. Ferris is returned to the First Church and the Rev. D. L. Mounts to Grace Church. Dr. Ferris, who served as minister of the First Church in Ontario during the past year, filled his first pulpit at a Methodist Church in Topeka, Kan., of which George E. Dougherty, now of Ontario, was then a member.

J. A. STAVELY NEW PASTOR OF FIRST M. E. CHURCH

CONFERENCE WILL ESTABLISH BROADCASTING STATION

Gross Alexander In Charge Of Organizing New Station—L. A. Ferris Named Pastor Of Ontario First Methodist Ch.—Donald Carey To Serve Cucamonga Church

J. A. Stavelly for three years pastor of the First Methodist Church of Redlands and previous to that time pastor of the First Methodist Church of Phoenix, Arizona, was yesterday named pastor of the First Methodist Church of Upland at the Methodist southern district conference which has been in session at Long Beach since last Tuesday.

The establishment of a broadcasting station sponsored by the Methodist Conference with Gross Alexander, formerly pastor of the Methodist Church here, in charge of the financing and organization of the plan was enthusiastically adopted by the Southern Conference and Mr. Alexander takes up his new work immediately.

Other pastors named for nearby points at the Conference are as follows: Ontario, First, L. A. Ferris; Grace, D. L. Mounts; Cucamonga, Donald Carey; Rialto, E. N. Askey; San Bernardino, W. C. Loomis; San Dimas, E. Sedgewick; Chino, Geo. L. Goodell; Colton, R. I. McKee; Covina, Geo. Steed.

C. S. Reynolds, son of W. C. Reynolds of the Reynolds-Harnish Dry Goods Company has been named associate pastor to Harry Shepherd of the Glendale Central church.

In speaking of Rev. Stavelly, who is coming to Upland, Rev. Gross Alexander pays him high tribute and states he is a man of unusual ability and will make the Upland church an ideal pastor.

PAYS $360 BOOZE FINE; IS RELEASED

Albert Tercero, 44-year-old Cucamongan, was fined $360 by Judge George R. Crane in the local court Saturday on a liquor possession charge. He paid his fine to the judge and was released.

Deputy Sheriff J. A. Larson and Officer Carmen Lehman of Upland arrested Tercero and found a pint of liquor in his possession, which netted him a $60 fine. His nervousness in court caused police to inspect his home and they found four gallons of liquor hidden under the kitchen floor.

The fine was then raised $300 making a total of $360, which was paid in full.

22 DIE IN ONTARIO RESIDENCE BLAZE

Twenty-two lives were snuffed out in a fire which partially destroyed the home of W. A. Kuhns, 715 West Nevada street, Ontario, Saturday.

The victims were canary birds, who occupied an aviary adjoining the dwelling. The birds were either overcome with the heat or suffocated by the smoke.

The flames almost completely destroyed the roof of the dwelling and damaged some upstairs rooms. The cause of the fire is unknown. Mrs. Kuhns asserted that there had been no fires about the place for many hours.

MRS. ISAAC EYER DIED HERE TODAY

Mrs. Isaac Eyer, wife of Isaac Eyer, died today at the Eyer home, 532 East Tenth street, at 2:30, following several weeks of serious illness.

Mrs. Eyer was 60 years of age. Mrs. Eyer leaves to mourn her loss her husband, Isaac Eyer, and several children.

Funeral services will be announced at a later date.

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 4, 1927

High Cost of Government

The cost of state government in California has increased from $11,672,048 in 1911 to $70,972,301 in 1926, an increase for the last fifteen years of $59,300,253, or 513.72 per cent.

The assessed valuation of the state for the same fifteen years has gone from $2,602,344,923 in 1911 to $7,164,457,974, an increase of $4,562,113,042, or 175.31 per cent.

Population in 1911 was estimated at 2,587,411, in 1926 at 4,736,199, an increase of 2,148,788, or 83.5 per cent.

The cost of county government in the state went from $39,272,598 in 1911 to $244,935,048 in 1926, an increase of $205,662,450, or 523.68 per cent.

The cost of municipal government has gone from $43,808,965 in 1911 to $180,844,998 in 1926, an increase of $137,036,033, or 312.8 per cent.

The total aggregate cost of state, county and municipal government has gone from $97,753,611 in 1911 to $496,752,347 in 1926, an increase of $398,998,736, or 408.17 per cent.

The bonded indebtedness of the state, representing state, county and municipal bonds, has jumped from $93,906,423 in 1911 to $672,166,200 in 1926, an increase of $578,259,777, or 615.78 per cent.

Professor Vandegrift, director of research, in commenting upon these figures says:

The total increased cost of government in California from 1911 to 1926 has been appalling. The cost of government has increased out of all proportion to the increase in population and assessed valuation. The figures need no reinforcement or argument to demonstrate that it is time for the taxpayer to call a halt in mounting expenditures. It is time to declare a tax holiday as far as the levying of new taxes is concerned. We should allow the recuperation of property which bears the tax burden by the liquidation of tax liens, of outstanding public bonds, of special assessments, and of all other public liabilities.

It is opportune to take stock of our tax situation now, before necessity forces us to do so. Let us continue to be proud of our achievements in civic development, but let us not go on until finally we are ashamed of our tax burden. Those least able to bear the burden first pay the price when a tax levy takes more than a reasonable share of the fruits of a man's labor. The increased number of forced sales of land, both on mortgage foreclosures and tax sales, indicates that the tax burden is being increasingly felt. Industry is feeling the increased tax burden when it sees the tax bills annually taking more than is paid in dividends.

The Finger of Opportunity

(Covina Argus)

The Arrow highway is to be an accomplished fact. Portions of it will be under construction by the first of the year. It will be a hundred-foot ribbon across the center of the upper San Gabriel Valley, a four-stream, fast, interstate boulevard, comparable to some of the great boulevards that converge upon the biggest cities of the middle west and east. It has been decided that it will cross the San Gabriel River on a modern bridge, and will probably split three ways before reaching the metropolitan area, in order to prevent congestion caused by local traffic.

Towns of the upper San Gabriel Valley are certain to grow toward this great artery. Bonita Avenue and Citrus Avenue corner will become something of a business center, just as Alhambra has accepted and made use of the Valley Boulevard as a part of its civic improvement.

Those in the valley who are looking for an opportunity to expand in business, or for a chance for a new venture, will do well to drive along the Arrow highway route and "spot out" the possibilities. Already there are businesses springing up in advance of, and in anticipation of the completion of this great bisecting thoroughfare. The unending motor stream is to be there—the most direct route from all Arizona, Imperial Valley and Eastern Southern California points to Los Angeles.

At Sunset

Look out across the meadow,
See the sunset glow,
And listen to the meadow lark,
Calling sweet and low.
See the purple of the distant hills,
Turn to a deeper hue,
And the yellow of the rising moon
Against the sky's dark blue,
See the waving of the corn fields,
There upon the lea,
Reaching out across the valley,
Like a golden sea.
You think of everything you've done,
The people you have met,
And you look again to see,
A California sunset.

They Didn't Advertize

(Bremont, Texas, Press)

About four miles south of Bremont can be seen the dim remains of one of the most popular health resorts in the south—Wooten Wells. Here, thirty and forty years ago, was the assembling place for chivalry, wealth, splendor, youth and age, as well as the sick and palsied—all met here at this veritable fountain possessing the power of restoring youth, like the old Spanish explorer, Ponce de Leon. The sick came and drank of the healing waters and were cured. In those days the "covered wagon" was the popular mode of transportation—long caravans of them could be seen slowly wending their way toward this Mecca in the summer—people on a vacation jaunt. Then, one by one, other places sprang into prominence, and the surging humanity drifted to other places and before many years Wooten Wells was a tottering ruin.

Let's go ahead and tell it all. Let's inform a goggle-eyed world that the reason why Wooten Wells failed as a prosperous watering place was because it didn't advertise. There are scores of curative springs which once had more than local celebrity, but which failed to realize the hopes of their friends, and lack of advertising was responsible. Consider the well-advertised resorts, how they have grown and expanded and been resorted to by thousands annually. Every one of them became famous through the medium of publicity. Atlantic City is in fact one of the poorest places for a summer resort on the Atlantic coast, but advertising has made it a playground for literal millions. There is a place on the east coast of Florida called Hollywood—a poor selection of a name, considering the priority of the California Hollywood—which is advertising so extensively that it is actually drawing tourists to Florida in the summer time. Newport, N. J., used to be the summer society capital of the United States. But Newport became self-assured, disdainful of publicity and haughty of spirit. Result—millionaires' palaces built there a few years ago are for rent at poor men's prices. The only thing that can be sold profitably without advertising is bootleg liquor. But look at the kind of people the dealer has to deal with.

Beauty and Utility

(Wisconsin State Journal)

Truth and beauty, the inseparable and age-old twins, are to be joined by a third companion called utility or efficiency.

Once things were good because they were not beautiful. Homeliness was a virtue. It was not beautiful; therefore, it was good. That of better appearance was suspected of concealing weakness under its pretty dress.

The automobile business was one of the first to respond to the changed attitude of people who acquired wealth, then education, then a taste for the beautiful and satisfying to the eye.

Once the only consideration in buying an automobile was mechanical superiority. Today, that alone will not sell automobiles. In addition to speed, power, durability and economy of operation the popular car must have alluring lines, luxurious interior appointments and beauty of color. Neither are the people so easily sold that which amazes them because it is produced at marvelous speed and in unbelievable quantities or embodies some new and startling invention.

What has happened in the automobile industry is taking place elsewhere. Factories are built for beauty as well as utility. The modern home has an exterior as artistic as the interior. Even gasoline filling stations and hot dog stands are commanding the services of architects and landscape gardeners.

Youth and poverty build for the monument. Middle-age and moderate means build for solidity and durability. Old-age and wealth build to add beauty to the others. American civilization has arrived at that stage of its national evolution where it can appreciate and afford beauty.

School Publicity

(Corona Independent)

Part of the educational change of recent years has been the development of publicity work. Superintendents and principals who used to hesitate about giving out much school news now regard well handled publicity as part of their job.

If the schools are to attain their best they must have the support of the whole community as well as of the paid educators. Fathers and mothers should know what Johnny and Mary and all the others do in school, how and what they are taught, how clean and airy and well-equipped the school house is, whether it is large enough to house the school population without crowding, and so on.

Intensive publicity work along these lines is done in American Education Week. But wise educators know that a single week of concentration on school problems will not effect so much good as continuous publicity. So they issue school bulletins from time to time, give school exhibitions to which parents are urged to come, gladly give talks before civic bodies on educational affairs, turn over to the local press important and accurate items of school news, and do anything else that occurs to them as useful in disseminating news about the schools.

Public-spirited parents respond by taking advantage of these opportunities, visiting the schools, attending board meetings occasionally and paying attention when school bond issues are asked for.

Naturally enough, all of this helps to improve the schools. More intelligence is brought to bear upon school problems and more supporters are found for progressive activities. The educational outlook is good because the schools are so thoroughly alive.

Tested Recipes

Strawberry Conserve

1 quart ripe strawberries; 1 cup seeded raisins; 4 cups sugar; 2 oranges; 1 lemon; 1/2 cup chopped walnuts. Wash and drain strawberries, put into preserving kettle with raisins, sugar, grated rind and pulp of oranges and lemon. Cook slowly for 30 minutes, add walnuts and continue cooking 10 minutes longer. Turn into sterilized glasses or jars.

Prune and Orange Jam

2 cups prunes; 4 oranges; 1 cup sugar; 1/2 cup water. Wash prunes and cut pulp from pits. Put pulp through a food chopper. Peel oranges and cut in small pieces. Cut rind of 2 oranges into small pieces. Mix all together, add sugar and water; cook slowly until thick. Turn into sterilized glasses and when cool cover with paraffin.

Apple Marmalade

6 oranges; 3 lemons; 9 apples; 5 cups sugar; 3 cups water. Pare and slice apple and cover with lemon juice. Wash oranges and cut into thin slices. Slice lemon rind. Add sugar and water and let stand 1 hour. Cook slowly to boiling point; boil 1 hour or until of the consistency of marmalade. Turn into sterilized glasses or jars and seal when cool.

Lemon Mincemeat

4 lemons; 2 apples; 1 pound currants; 1/2 cup raisins; 1/2 cup chopped nuts; 1/2 cup melted butter; 2 cups sugar; 1 teaspoon salt; 1 teaspoon ground cinnamon; 1 teaspoon ground nutmeg; 1 teaspoon ground cloves; 1 teaspoon ground ginger; 1 teaspoon ground allspice. Squeeze juice from lemons and cook peel until soft. Put through meatchopper and then rub through a sieve. Add chopped apples and remaining ingredients, mix well and store in jars. Use a filling for turnovers and pies.

Carrot Marmalade

12 raw carrots; 4 cups sugar; 3 lemons; 1 teaspoon ground cloves; 1 teaspoon ground cinnamon; 1 teaspoon ground allspice. Grate carrots, add sugar and let stand one hour. Add lemon juice and spices. Cook slowly for 1 hour. Turn into sterilized jars and seal when cold.

Orange Conserve

6 oranges; 1 lemon; 4 cups sliced rhubarb or cranberries; 4 cups sugar; 1 cup seeded raisins; 1 cup walnut meats. Grate rind from oranges and lemon; cut pulp in slices, discarding white membrane and seeds. If sliced rhubarb is used place it in a colander and pour boiling water over it; then drain thoroughly. If cranberries are used, cut them in halves, place in colander and run cold water over them. Mix fruit, grated rind, sugar and raisins. Cook slowly until thick; add nuts and cook 10 minutes longer. Turn into sterilized glasses or jars.

Orange Honey

6 oranges; 1 lemon; 1 cup hot water; 6 cups sugar. Remove peel from oranges, cover with boiling water and cook until tender. Drain remove white membrane, dry rind and put through food chopper. Grate yellow part of lemon and add to orange rind. Cut pulp of oranges and lemons into small pieces, discarding all seeds. Bring 1 cup hot water and sugar to boiling point. Add orange and lemon pulp and rind and cook 25 minutes after boiling point is reached. Pour into sterilized glasses and cover.

Grapefruit Marmalade

2 large grapefruit; 2 oranges; 2 lemons; cold water; sugar. Peel fruit, discarding seed and one-half of rind. Remove white membrane from remaining rind and cut in narrow strips. Mix strips with pulp cut in slices; measure and for each cup add 3 cups of water. Let stand again overnight. Add 1 cup sugar for each cup of pulp. Cook two hours or until a little dropped on a cold saucer forms a jelly-like clot. Turn into sterilized glasses and when cool cover with paraffin.

Preserved Oranges

Peel large oranges, cut in 1/4 inch slices and cover with cold water, allowing 1 cup water for each orange. Let stand 24 hours. Cook in same water until tender. Add 1 cup sugar and the juice of 1 lemon for each orange. Cook until transparent. Place in glasses or jars, cover with syrup and seal.

Orange Jelly

6 oranges; 3 lemons; cold water; sugar. Cut oranges and lemons in very thin slices, discarding seeds. Measure and for each cup allow 3 cups water. Bring to boiling point and boil 1 hour. Let drain in jelly-bag overnight. Measure juice and for each cup add 1 cup sugar. Boil until a little dropped on a cold saucer forms a jelly-like clot. Turn into sterilized jars and when cold cover with paraffin.

SOUTH GETS ANNUAL MEETING OF STATE FARM BUREAU OCT. 31

Riverside draws the meeting of the State Farm Bureau this year—Oct. 31, Nov. 1 and 2. This is the first year this meeting has been held in the south. It is usually held in San Francisco. The first departure was made last year in holding it at Stockton.

Heretofore attendance at the Annual Farm Bureau meeting has been limited, only a few being present in addition to the state directors. This year all Farm Bureau members are invited to attend and become familiar with the method of taking up the various problems presented by the delegates, and to get acquainted with Farm Bureau folks from other counties.

For the Riverside meeting, parties will be organized in each Farm Center. Most of these, it is hoped, will stay over one night in Riverside, probably Tuesday night, in that way being able to spend two days at the conference. Lodging and meals can be had at prices

WHAT A ONE CENT SALE IS

It is a sale where you buy an item at the regular price, then another item of the same kind for one cent. As an illustration: The standard price of Klenzo Dental Creme is 50c. You buy a tube at this price, and by paying 1 cent more, or 51 cents, you get two tubes. Every article in this sale is a high class standard piece of merchandise, just the same as is sold every day at the regular price.

This sale was developed by the United Drug Co. as an advertising plan. Rather than spend large sums of money in other ways to convince you of the merit of these goods, they are spending it on this sale in permitting us to sell you a full size package of high standard merchandise for 1 cent. It costs money to get new customers, but the sacrifice in profit is justified, knowing the goods will please you.

SOCIETY and CLUB

GOLENOR-BAKER WEDDING AT POMONA—

The marriage of Miss Maydelle Baker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Baker of Upland to Harold Ray Golenor, occurred at Pomona on September 22nd. The following account of the wedding, which appeared in the Pomona Progress-Bulletin will prove of interest to many News readers. Mr. Baker for many years has been in charge of the pumps for the Lemon Heights, Water Company and for the Tigua Water Company.

Impressive in its effect of smart simplicity was the wedding at the First Baptist church yesterday evening that united Miss Maydelle Baker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Baker recently of Pomona but now of Upland, and Harold Ray Golenor, of Los Angeles, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Golenor of 184 W. Second street, Pomona. The ritual was read at 8:30 o'clock by the Rev. W. J. Harper of Los Angeles, formerly pastor of the local church, assisted by Dr. Floyd I. Beckwith, the present pastor.

A cathedral effect was attained by the use of gothic arches, built of greenery and cathedral candles of graduated sizes ranging from nine feet in height in the middle background. Tall arches covered with greenery were built over the aisles down which the wedding party passed. On each side of the rostrum were baskets of pink gladioli.

Repeating the dominant color theme, the bridesmaids and maid of honor wore dainty frocks of pink and green.

As a prelude to the ceremony, Miss Ruth Grinnell of Redlands played the Bridal Song by De Bois. Miss Elizabeth Serling of Redlands, lyric soprano, sang Schubert's Serenade and Miss Ruth Elizabeth Tilton of Fullerton, a contralto, sang "Until." Preceding Miss Tilton's solo, Miss Grinnell played a medley of old fashioned love songs.

The wedding march from Lohengrin signalled the entrance of the bridal party.

The bride, who entered on the arm of her father, was lovely in a gown of white transparent velvet, designed on simple lines. It was of medium length and caught at one side with a buckle of rhinestones. The side drape extended several inches below the hem. A double "V" neckline was outlined in rhinestones.

She wore a court length veil of duchesse lace, held in place with a high coronet of pearls. Her bouquet was of white orchids and lilies of the valley showered with white rosebuds.

Mrs. Guy Bishop of San Bernardino who was Miss Catherine Jones of Riverside until her recent marriage with Mr. Bishop, was matron of honor. She wore pink as did Miss Lillian Wentworth of Pomona and Mrs. Raymond H. Bradstreet of Redlands. Mrs. Henry Coshon of Coranado, Miss Marion Baker of Venice, a cousin of the bride and Miss Edith Jane Colburn of Long Beach were in green.

The bridesmaids' frocks were of tulle over sheath slips of corresponding color. The effect of a close-fitting tight little basque, low cut, and full bouffant skirt was made additionally charming by large picture hats of sheer tulle with a crossing of velvet ribbon forming the crown. This ribbon was of contrasting color to the gowns, those in pink wearing French blue and those in green wearing lavender.

The tulle that formed the skirts was of contrasting tucks and the uneven hem line, knee length in front, touched the floor in a suggestion of a train.

They carried large bouquets of pink rosebuds and lavender sweet peas, to contrast with the green tulle, and pink rosebuds with pink sweet peas corresponding with the pink tulle.

Sarah Virginia Shellnut, small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Shellnut of No. Towne avenue, was dainty flower girl in a miniature bridesmaids dress of pink tulle.

Captain Fred J. White of South Pasadena, served Mr. Golenor as best man and the ushers were Charles Dunavant of Los Angeles, Perry Hopkins of Los Angeles, Charles Spore of Los Angeles, Raymond Bradstreet of Redlands and Robert Lackman of Pomona.

Mr. Golenor, who formerly resided in Pomona, is secretary and director of the Walter P. Story building corporation in Los Angeles and also of the Los Angeles Stock Exchange building.

Miss Baker was graduated from Pomona High school and from Redlands University. She taught in Fullerton for about two years.

After an extended wedding trip which will take them to Washington D. C. and New York City, Mr. and Mrs. Golenor will be at home in Los Angeles. They will return by way of the Panama canal stopping at places of interest en route.

For traveling, Mrs. Golenor wore a georgette ensemble of parchment shade with a small hat of royal blue.

At the church, Mrs. J. R. Golenor wore a gown of Royal blue velvet and Mrs. Baker wore wood-brown velvet.

Preceding the rehearsal held Wednesday evening a dinner party was given for the bridal party at the Baker residence in Upland. In addition to the bridal party the guests included Miss Grinnell, Miss Serling, Miss Tilton and Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Golenor. The color scheme of the wedding, pink and green, was used effectively.

During the past several weeks, Miss Baker has furnished the inspiration for an almost constant round of delightful parties.

ROTARIANS OF TWO CITIES HOLD JOINT MEETING—

With the Ontario Rotary Club sponsoring the event members of both Ontario and Upland Clubs and their ladies enjoyed Friday evening in the new American Legion Club House on West E street, Ontario. Dinner was served by the Woman's Auxiliary of the Ontario Legion.

Upland has been sponsoring a joint meeting each year at the district conferences while Ontario sponsors one at home and club members looked forward to Friday night with a great deal of interest owing to the fact that delegates to Ostend were to tell of their trips.

Although Rotarians may be inclined to give the men the greater credit, their wives will doubtless agree that the best report of the trip to Ostend was given by Mrs. J. W. Heinicke who gave her impressions of Europe and told of the International Convention of Rotarians in a most interesting manner. Geo. McCrae stated that about the best part of his speech would be its brevity and although it was short Mr. McCrae's hearers enjoyed every word of it. J. A. Armstrong gave his talk with pictures and he took his hearers with him from place to place and from world famous buildings to others becoming famous as the years roll on.

Three outstanding features added to the gaiety of the evening. First came R. D. Newton with a flow of oratory that was more than a word picture and it was all about President T. R. Woodbridge of the Upland Club and President Earl Blakeslee of the Ontario Club. Just as Mr. Newton was sailing still skyward in to oratorical heights words flashed from a sign and when Mr. Newton's hearers figured them out they broadcasted the message, "All Bull."

No one present knew that Welles Ross, J. A. Freeman, Dr. Titus and Dr. Fleming were singers but they made up a male quartet and sang melodiously and fairly captivated the audience with their perfect harmony. When they had finished the stage curtain went back and there stood the California Quartet. The California Quartet sang several selections during the evening their numbers being greatly appreciated.

Another event of the evening was the lost trunk of the Heinicke's and the inspection of it by customs officer, Crombie Allen took the part of J. W. Heinicke while Art Peterson was the customs officer. A thousand and one articles of wearing apparel were discovered by the customs officer on which duty hadn't been paid. The skit proved very popular.

Dancing was enjoyed late in the evening.

NURSES WILL DINE AT CASA BLANCA—

On Thursday evening, October 6th at 6:30, the California State Nurses' Association, Unit No. 6, San Bernardino county, will hold the monthly dinner meeting in Ontario at the Casa Blanca hotel.

Dr. Charles D. Lockwood of Pasadena will speak on the subject "Recent Progress in Nursing Education." Dr. and Mrs. Lockwood have just recently returned from a visit with Dr. Wilfred Grenfell in Labrador and we hope that they will tell us something about the remarkable work of Dr. Grenfell in that country.

Mrs. Gabrielle Mulvane, superintendent of nurses of the San Bernardino County Hospital, will give a report of the annual meeting of the American Nurses' Association which was held in San Francisco in June.

All graduate nurses of the community are invited to attend this meeting. Since it is to be a meeting of particular interest the invitation is also extended to the local doctors and their wives.

Reservations for the dinner may be made by phoning Ruth Hay at Ontario, 336-W after five o'clock in the evening. The dinner will be $1.00 per plate and all reservations must be made before Wednesday evening, October 5th.

DELIGHTFUL PARTY AT BENSON HOME—

Donald Benson and Howard Pruett proved to be delightful young hosts on Friday evening, when they entertained a group of their school mates at the Benson home, 506 Eighth avenue.

The attractive baskets of Fall blooms were used throughout the rooms of the Benson home and games and stunts were features of the evening. At a late hour Mrs. Benson assisted by several of the young ladies served dainty refreshments of cream and cake.

Among those enjoying the evening were the Misses Louise Norton, Hazel Lackey, Ellen Benson, Marian Sturdivant, Mary Griffith, Gloria Foss and Marie Wisely and Marshall Pruett, Aldon Wisely, Phillip Born, Jim Drake, Manly Rose, DeVon Francisco, Donald Benson and John Stamm.

FAMILY PARTY AT HAMILTON HOME—

The home of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Hamilton at Alta Loma was the scene of a happy family gathering on Sunday, when members of their immediate family came to spend the day there.

Visiting and a delicious noon dinner were features of the day and among those enjoying the affair were Mrs. Hamilton's mother, Mrs. L. R. Nichols of Ontario; Dr. and Mrs. E. R. Nichols of Los Angeles, and Mrs. Nichols's sister, Mrs. L. S. Kennedy, who is visiting here from Texas.

CLUB MEMBERS WILL ENTERTAIN THEIR HUSBANDS.

A few seasons ago it was very evident that the social functions were monopolized by members of the fair sex, but with the coming of the service and recreational clubs for men, things have taken a complete turn and today it is considered quite the thing for the busy business men to drop routine work and hie himself away for a few hours of social diversion.

Many of the women's clubs make it part of their yearly program to have several meetings for the men and to judge from the number of husbands who attend these affairs, the fact is plain that the men religiously keep these dates open.

A delightful party scheduled for Friday evening, and one that will have the husbands as guests of honor, is the seven o'clock dinner, given by the members of the Upland Club at the Community cottage on Ninth street. The cottage will be especially decorated for the occasion and following dinner tables will be placed for the game of auction bridge. Among the club members and their husbands who plan to attend are Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Vandusen, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Deverts, Mr. and Mrs. L. N. Kirk, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Minor, Mr. and Mrs. Laundry, Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Dean, Mr. and Mrs. C. K. Francisco, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Luke, Mrs. A. N. Baker, Mrs. A. D. Howard and Mrs. Sally Merrill.

Mrs. A. N. Baker is president of this happy club, having recently been elected at the meeting which was held at the Fourth Street Park in Ontario.

BUSINESS WOMEN WILL DINE TONIGHT—

Members of the Upland Business and Professional Women's Club will enjoy a delightful program and dinner this evening at the Davis Cafe. Mrs. E. A. MacLaren, who is dinner chairman, has outlined an interesting program for the evening that will feature a group of vocal solos by Ted MacLaren, readings by Mrs. W. H. Hawkinson and several clever dance numbers by Miss Helen Taylor. With Halloween just around the corner, Miss Lillian Roth will read a brief history of the origin of this feast day and community singing, with Mrs. Clara Dossinger of Ontario presiding at the piano, will round out the evening's entertainment.

Preceding the program, a business meeting will be held at which the president, Mrs. R. C. Williams will preside. As there are many important business matters to come up this evening, it is desirable that all the members attend. Dinner will be served at six-thirty o'clock and Miss Lillian Williams and Mrs. Claude P. Mengle, who are in charge of the decorations, have spared no effort to make the tables beautiful.

SMART BRIDGE LUNCHEON TOMORROW—

Among the charming affairs planned for tomorrow is the smartly appointed bridge luncheon to be given by Mrs. Earl E. Hawthorne, at her home on West Eighth street. Gorgeous dahlias in the lovely autumn shades will be the medium of decoration and lunch will be served at one o'clock.

The afternoon will be spent in playing auction bridge, and at the close of the tourney, dainty prizes will be awarded the winners. Mrs. Hawthorne's guest list includes, Mrs. V. H. Wilson, Mrs. H. B. Cavers, Mrs. Elmer Mathews, Mrs. Harry S. Flowers, Mrs. Henry O. Blohm, Mrs. E. C. Mehl, Mrs. Claude P. Mengle, Mrs. William S. Avery, Mrs. Ray C. Norton, Mrs. D. R. Foss, Mrs. J. E. Sawyer, Mrs. P. H. McQuillen, Mrs. Charles O. Deverts, Mrs. William Atchley, Mrs. W. H. Andrews, Mrs. George Crill, Mrs. Harry S. Kennedy, Mrs. Mary Eckerman, Mrs. L. M. Dickins and Mrs. O. P. Brady.

MRS. PLUM HOSTESS TO CLUB MEMBERS—

Delightfully informal is the auction bridge party at which Mrs. Harry Plum is presiding today at her home on First avenue. The hostess has chosen a profusion of dahlias for her floral decorations, and the guests are spending the afternoon at the card tables. Lovely gifts will be given to the winners at the close of the game and a dainty collation will be served at a late hour. Among those enjoying the afternoon are the Mesdames Charles Deverts, L. N. Kirk, G. A. Brest, L. J. Linkey, E. C. Mehl, Bruce Moore, C. K. Francisco and Glenn Atwood.

OPSAW CLUB ENJOYS EVENING MEETING—

Voting the dinner and meeting one of the best they had had in many moons, one hundred twenty members of the Opsaw Club and their guests were entertained last Thursday evening at Opsaw Glenn in the San Antonio Canyon.

Late in the afternoon the club members motored to the mountains and at six-thirty o'clock a delicious dinner, whose piece-de-resistance was creamed chicken with all the trimmings, was served. The long tables were attractively decorated for the dinner, and much merriment prevailed as the delicious food disappeared as if by magic. Following the meal, moving pictures were shown and later Mr. Chester Holt, in full magician's regalia, read the guests' fortunes from a crystal globe that had all the ear marks of an ordinary insulator. At a late hour the guests left to return to their homes in Upland and Ontario.

Among those who presided at the delightful outing and were responsible for the affair were Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Gaitner, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Reynolds, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Ford, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Holt, Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Howell, Mr. and Mrs. Owen Dark and Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Strothers.

STATE PRESIDENT GUEST OF CLUB WOMEN—

Mrs. W. W. Green, president of the California state federation of women's clubs is one of the guests of honor and speaker on the afternoon program at the first meeting of the fall season that is being sponsored by members of the Upland Woman's club at their club house today. Luncheon will be served at 12:30 o'clock and during this hour presidents of the various clubs will speak, bringing greetings from their clubs to the local organization.

The afternoon session will be at two o'clock and Mrs. J. Emory Sargent, president, will preside. Other guests at the affair are Mrs. H. N. DeNise of Riverside, district president and Mrs. George R. Bunn of Redlands, who is county president. Women's clubs from all of the West end have been invited and two hundred women are expected to attend.

ST. MARK'S GUILD MET YESTERDAY—

Meeting for the first time since the summer vacation, twenty members of the Woman's Guild of St. Mark's Episcopal church met at the parish house yesterday. Mrs. W. W. Phipps, the president, presided and plans were completed for a busy fall and winter session.

PRESBYTERIAL CONVENING TODAY—

The Riverside Presbyterian meeting at the Presbyterian church today opened its morning session at ten o'clock. The women of the Presbytery meeting in the Westminster Presbyterian church of Ontario while the men met at the church here. A joint meeting will be held in the Upland church this evening at six thirty o'clock.

Dinner will be served at six thirty and will be followed by Several interesting talks given by out of town guests. Mrs. R. Johnson of Santa Ana will give an enlightening talk on Alaska and she will be followed by Dr. R. M. Donaldson of the Beverly Hills Presbyterian church who is the speaker of the evening. Mr. Donaldson will tell of the work of the National missions board, since its organization one hundred twenty-five years ago. Mrs. A. B. Drake of Redlands will discuss the work that the woman's board has accomplished during the fifty years that it has been organized and special musical numbers have been arranged for this session.

MISS LIND DELIGHTFULLY SURPRISED—

Miss Lillian Lind, secretary of the Girl's Work in the Chaffey district, was delightfully surprised on Saturday evening by members of the Girls Council, who came laden with flowers and goodies to spend the evening with her at her home, 1130 Columbia street, Ontario.

Social visiting and delightful plans for a busy winter were discussed by the young women, and Miss Lind was presented with a beautiful basket of golden roses and dainty refreshments were served by the guests.

Among those who came to surprise Miss Lind were Marian Henderson, Pauline Tilden, Marie Matlin, Louise Henry, Marian Huntziger and Elizabeth Bond, while Mrs. Henderson and Miss Geraldine Norton, who were also present, were the culprits who helped the young girls plan the surprise.

MARY BRAINARD CAMP MEETS AT HOTEL—

Several important business matters were discussed by members of Mary Brainard Camp No. 48, Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War, when they met last evening at the Upland Hotel.

The president, Mrs. Sadie Benner, presided and the meeting was called at eight o'clock. Beginning with the next regular meeting, the sessions will be held at the Odd Fellows hall on Second avenue and the meeting date has been changed from the first and third Monday evenings to the first and third Friday evenings of the month.

The opening meeting in the new quarters will be in the nature of an informal social and will be preceded by a brief business session at seven o'clock. Jewel Camp of Long Beach was represented last evening by its past president, Alpha Cook Willis. Mrs. Willis, who is a fluent speaker, gave an interesting address in which she stressed the theme of "friendship." A report was read by the secretary from Edna Wadsworth, district inspector, who was a recent guest of the local organization, in which she gave a mark of "excellent" to Mary Brainard Camp.

LEGION AUXILIARY WILL ELECT OFFICERS—

Members of the American Legion Auxiliary will hold their annual election meeting of officers on Thursday evening at the Legion home, when officers for the ensuing year 1927-28 will be elected. Mrs. Hjalmer Anderson, the president, will preside and annual reports of the various committee chairmen will be features of the business session.

A social hour will follow and a delicious tea will be served by members of the hostess' committee.

BARRYMORE THRUSTS AND PARRIES WITH RAPIER IN PICTURE

The swords used in "When a Man Loves" starring John Barrymore and directed by Alan Crosland are not flat blades, sharp on one or both edges, but bona fide rapier blades of the period of Louis XV of France.

Mr. Barrymore, who is an authority on the period, explains that these blades were longer than the ordinary dress parade sword and were extremely light and flexible. They were diamond-shaped so as to offer little resistance to the air in side-strokes, and so that wounds inflicted would stay open and bleed freely. They were not used to slash or hack, but to parry and thrust. The fact that they were used with lightning-like rapidity made it imperative that they should be very light in weight, and balanced so that the hit and guard weighed as much as the blade. The use of the ancient rapier is thrillingly demonstrated in "When a Man Loves," the special extended-run production in which John Barrymore stars, supported by Dolores Costello and a distinguished cast including Warner Oland, Sam De Grasse, Holmes Herbert, Tom Santsevhi, Charles Clary and many others.

"When a Man Loves" comes to the Granada Theatre Wednesday for a run of three days, Oct. 5, 6 and 7.

The dead man left St. Louis Tuesday to walk to Dayton, it is said.—Chicago Tribune.

OCTOBER WEATHER WILL BE ASSORTED

October will be a month of alternate smiles and frowns, but not much actual rain in San Bernardino County and Southern California, according to the monthly forecast of Father Ricard, Padre of the Rains. Storms in the northwest will usher in the month, he predicts, and these may drive over into California, but he does not expect any general rain in this state until the middle of the month. The complete forecast: Oct. 1, 2, 3, 4—Successive disturbances growing into a big one will occupy the northwest and Arizona, causing south winds and general rains in these sections. The disturbance is expected to move at least as far to the southwest as Eureka and Red Bluff, with some cloudiness in these parts and possibly a sprinkle and a thunderstorm.

More Rain Scheduled

Oct. 5—Same storm departing. Oct. 6, 7—Clearing or clear. Oct. 8, 9, 10, 11—Another series of depressions appearing over the great northwest and Arizona, and making themselves felt over the general plateau and adjacent states, dispensing some rain in those parts and possibly over the mountains of California. More south winds and possibly a thunderstorm. Oct. 12, 13—Generally fair and pleasantly warm. Oct. 14—Arrival from the North Pacific of low depression over Southern Alaska and Washington, causing cloudiness, sprinkles and thunderstorms from Northern California to the northward and northeastward and possibly some trouble in Southern California and Arizona, not to mention Nevada.

Showers North, South

Oct. 16, 17—A new arrival from the ocean determining south winds, an amount of cloudiness and light sprinkles north and south, especially in Arizona.

Oct. 18, 19—Generally fair and warmer. Oct. 20, 21, 22, 23—A remarkable series of depressions passing over the general northwest from Northern California to Juneau and also over Arizona, with light rains in those countries and possibly a light sprinkle over the mountainous sections of California.

Oct. 24, 25—Generally fair and enjoyable warmth. Oct. 26 to 31, inclusive—A multiple depression partly over the North Pacific states, and partly over Arizona, with south winds and scattered rains. Some cloudiness in California and threat of rain, but mostly fair.

N. B.—Next disturbance November 3, 12.

ST. MARK'S CHURCH

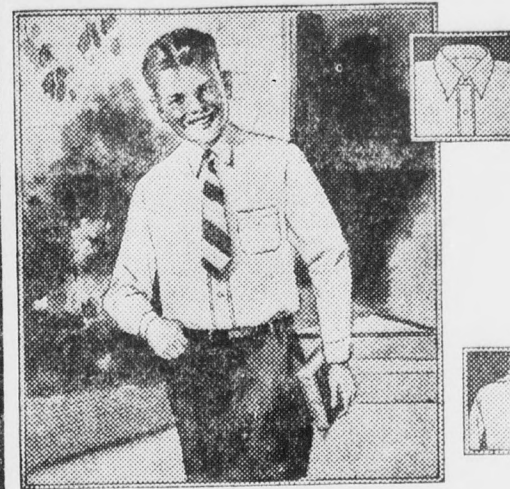

On Sunday morning the rector of St. Mark's Church was able to announce to his congregation that the organ installed in the church less than two years ago is free from debt. An unknown friend sent to the rector a draft for $500.00 toward the debt and as this happened to be the amount of the balance still owing and coming due October 3, the draft, unknown to the donor was sufficient to clear the indebtedness. The announcement causes a feeling of great happiness and the whole congregation rose and sang, led by the organ, the Doxology and the rector in concluding the service, asked God's blessing upon this anonymous friend and all who by their generosity had made this wonderful success possible. When the organ was purchased, it seemed, owing to the building of the rectory that we might have to carry this expense a long time and yet we have never defaulted on a single payment on the rectory, while meeting this extra burden. We thank God and our many friends.

Today's Worst

The coach was testing out his quarterbacks. He was putting their team in imaginary positions and finding out what plays they use.

"All right, Jim, you have the ball on your own five yard line and it's first down. The score is seven to nothing against you, forty-five seconds to play. Now what would you do?"

"I'd call time out, and send in a sub to take my place. Then, I'd run to town and wire home that we lost the game seven to nothing."—Louisville Satyr.

CONSTANT DELIGHT

"Then there are the wine carts! If they are not quite things of beauty, they are certainly dogs' faces. Swung on two high wheels, they are decorated in the most brilliant colors, applied in highly elaborate design and usually lured with the year of their adornment. The gorgeously canopied seats of the drivers are picturesque to the last degree. It would seem that each peasant owner is vying with his neighbor in the achievement of startling results.

To see the wine carts in their glory, one must take an afternoon drive to Frascati, when the peasants are trooping back across the Campagna to that famous wine center, after having delivered their loads in the city. Each gay cart bears its quota of several large barrels and one small one for sampling purposes. Curled on a rug atop the barrels is usually a sleepy little dog and dangling beneath nearly every vehicle, on a chain, wire or rope, is a ram's horn, there suspended as a guard against the "evil eye."

TRIPLE ERUPTION

And speaking of wine, when I expressed mild surprise that, despite the vast quantities of spirituous liquor consumed, I had seen no "drunks" during my stay of several months in Italy, a gentleman who was for more than 20 years in the American diplomatic service in Europe, went no several better. During 10 years' residence here, he asserted, he had never seen an intoxicated person. The Italians are possessed of the secret of real temperance.

The same diplomat went on to tell how, when he was U. S. Consul-General in Rome, he received a communication from a so-called woman's temperance organization in America, asking his opinion regarding the probable outcome of an intensive drive to make Italy "dry."

"Had I replied," declared the diplomat in conclusion, "I should have told them that I thought the result of such a campaign would be the simultaneous eruption of Vesuvius, Stromboli and Etna!"

"HIGHBROW" RAVINGS

When I hear people rave about how the Victor Emmanuel II Monument offends their aesthetic senses, I always have the feeling that nine-tenths of them are so raving because they think it the "high-brow" thing to do. True it may be that its new marble whiteness and its much gilded bronze seem a bit incongruous in the midst of Rome's ancient architecture, but I find it withal not displeasing.

One must remember that the monuments of antiquity, which now call forth the plaudits of the multitude, were likewise once new. Even the superb marble structures of ancient Athens, there is ample evidence, where once lavishly adorned with brilliant-hued paint. Time and the elements will doubtless soften the beauty of this monument of modern Rome, but in the meantime, I refuse to let it disturb me.

GARLANDED GRAVE

Standing on the north slope of the Capitoline Hill, the great monument fronts on the broad Piazza Venezia and forms a striking termination for Corso Umberto I. This thoroughfare, better known simply as The Corso, is Rome's principal artery. It runs to Piazza del Popolo and is always throbbing with life.

Before the monument proper is the great gilded bronze equestrian statue of the first king of United Italy. At its base, on a low terrace, is the grave of Italy's Unknown Soldier, banked over with floral garlands. Although commenced 12 years ago, the monument is not yet quite completed. Its progress was delayed by the World War.

WHERE NERO FIDDOLED

On this imposing site, the great structure can be seen from almost every part of Rome and often proves an excellent landmark by which to ascertain one's bearings. From its topmost colonaded terrace are obtained splendid views.

This is perhaps the best vantage point from which to gaze on the leaning Torre di Nerone. Although this tower is of Mediaeval origin, one is half inclined to the popular belief that here, as the name implies, "Nero dilled while Rome burned." At least we can imagine that it marks the site of his original watch tower.

ROYAL PALACE

A visit to the Palazzo del Quirinale, residence since 1870 of the kings of Italy, is both interesting and disappointing. Here one finds some odd combinations of good and bad taste. The great crystal chandeliers are the palace's chief joy. There are some good tapestries, some Oriental vases of interest and a few good paintings. The color combinations in the hangings of some of the rooms, on the other hand, are atrocious and no middle-class American family would put up with the carpets on some of the floors for five minutes.

Of far greater interest is a visit to the Royal Stables. Here one sees a string of fine horses, gathered from the four corners of the earth, and has the pleasure of feeding some of the special pets, if he has gone with pockets plentifully supplied with lump sugar. Examination of some of the sumptuous ancient carriages, as well as the equipages of present-day royalty, intrigue. There is also a wealth of gold-mounted and otherwise splendid harness for use on many state occasions, both past and present.

IN THE CATACOMBS

Everyone who stays any length of time in Rome pays at least one visit to the catacombs. Those of St. Callixtus are the most noteworthy of these early Christian subterranean burial places. Here are the tombs of several of the early martyred popes and that of St. Cecilia. The labyrinth of underground passages is lined from floor to ceiling with recesses for bodies, most of which have crumbled entirely to decay or been removed. The vast number of infant graves is appalling. Most of the sculptured decoration is crude, reflecting the declining art of the period. Bas-reliefs of fish, early Christian symbols, are often repeated. Each visitor is furnished with a tiny taper and is usually repeatedly willing, as he traverses the maze of passages, to heed the admonition of the priest-guide to keep close to him.

Still more weird than the catacombs, if possible, is the Cappuccini church in Via Vittorio Veneto. In its basement are chambers whose walls are literally plastered with the bones of countless Christian martyrs. Human skulls are even used for electric lighting fixtures. The gruesome relics are preserved, it is said, as a constant reminder of the terrible cost at which Christianity was established in Rome.

BLESSING OF LAMBS

Of the several delightful church festivals which it has been my pleasure to attend in Rome, none was more charming than the high pontifical mass for the blessing of the lambs on St. Agnes Day at the church of San' Agnese fuori le Mura.

St. Agnes, who was martyred in the third century at the hands of a Roman prefect for refusal to marry his son, later appeared in vision to tell of her happiness, accompanied by a lamb. Hence the association. Perhaps the best-known painting of the saint and her lamb is that from the hand of Andrea del Sarto in the Cathedral at Pisa.

ENCHANTING SCENE

The Blessing of the lambs at this Roman church is an annual event and attracts hundreds of visitors. To witness it, I had a wonderful vantage point, a seat on the marble gallery just above the high altar.

The gleaming candles, the fragrant incense rising in the air, the beautiful robes of the kindly old officiating cardinal and his assistants, the music and all combine to weave a spell of enchantment. Adding further to the charm of the occasion are picturesque peddlers in the cloisters of a monastery adjoining the church offering miniature woolly lambs as souvenirs.

FOR SACRED ROBE

Toward the close of the mass, there proceeds down the nave of the church a procession of young girls all in white. In this procession, borne on litters on the shoulders of four young amazons, come two baskets, each containing a snowy lamb (of somewhat more advanced age than I had anticipated). The lambs are each bedecked and much garlanded in flowers of red and white respectively.

The baskets are placed on the altar, the lambs sprinkled with holy water and solemnly blessed. This completed they are borne out again by the girls. It was at this point that the ceremony came near being spoiled for me, for so eager were the people lining their path to touch the now blessed lambs, that they actually pulled wool from their shackled and squirming bodies.

Following the church ceremony, the lambs are tended by the Nuns of St. Cecilia until the octave of Easter, when they are shorn and the wool woven into a pallium, which is consecrated each year at the tomb of St. Peter. This pallium is the insignia of Episcopal jurisdiction, the symbol of the Flock of the Good Shepherd.

ST. CECILIA DAY

Another church fête which I shall never forget is that at Santa Cecilia in Trastevere, marking the anniversary of the Saint's death. As Cecilia is its patron, one might expect good music and we who went were not disappointed. Seldom have I heard anything more beautiful than the singing of the great vested choir and the pealing of the mighty organ.

The church itself is most interesting. Supposedly built over the house of the Saint, one sees in the Lower Church the very rooms in which Cecilia lived, including the one in which an attempt was made to steam her to death. A fine recumbent marble statue of the Saint by Stefano Maderia is the church's art treasure.

TRIPLE CHURCH

San Clemente completes the list of Roman churches on which I shall touch. It might be said to be three churches in one. The Christian part of it dates from the fourth century, but it was built over a temple of the Imperial Age, dedicated to Mithras, as recent interesting excavations have shown. The early Christian basilica was destroyed by the Normans in 1084, but over it, in turn, was erected in 1108 yet another church.

Much of the decoration of the present edifice, which has been considerably, but well restored, was derived from the fourth century structure. Also, the work of excavating the Lower Church begun in 1861, has disclosed ancient frescoes and much else of interest and value. The Temple of Mithras is likewise accessible.

BLESSED CATS

Announcement that the once superb and still intriguing Forum of Trajan is also known as the "Forum of the Cats" is something of a descent from the sublime to the ridiculous. Such, however, is the case, for in the excavations about the famous Trajan Column assembly, for some unexplained reason, all the stray cats of Rome.

They are always in evidence and citizens are said to have formed a habit of bringing food here to them. Incidentally, in accordance with a custom of many years' standing, cats and other pets are blessed each year at a special service held at a nearby church.

TELLS OF CONQUESTS

The Forum, which is but a step from the Victor Emanuel Monument, once consisted of a group of superb edifices built in A. D. 111-114. Four rows of columns in the now excavated part mark the site of the double-aisled Basilica Ulpia.

The Column, which rises in the center to a height of 88 feet, is composed of blocks of solid marble, five feet in diameter. Around it runs a spiral band, 650 feet long, bearing reliefs from Trajan's Dacian Wars, with more than 2500 figures of men, not to mention animals and other objects. Trajan was buried beneath it and his statue graced its summit. Christian St. Peter, however, replaced Pagan Trajan on the column's top in 1587. The Column of Marcus Aurelius in Rome and the Vendôme Column in Paris, the latter with reliefs from Napoleon's Conquests, are patterned after this Trajan monument.

OFFICES OF DUCE

The Aurelius Column is 10 feet higher than that of Trajan, but otherwise not dissimilar. It bears reliefs from conquests over Germanic tribes along the Danube. The "Philosopher Emperor" is also a "has been," however. His statue, which once adorned the monument's top, has been replaced by that of St. Paul.

The Piazza Colonna, in which it stands, derives its name from the column. It is one of Rome's busiest squares, forming, as it does, a sort of harbor off the ever-throbbing Corso. The fact that it is flanked on one side by the Palazzo Chigi, containing the executive offices of Signor Benito Mussolini, adds not a little to its interest. It is from a balcony, overlooking this same Piazza Colonna that "Il Duce" not infrequently addresses the multitude there assembled for the purpose.

IMPERIAL MAGNIFICENCE

While we are on the subject of Roman Emperors, just a word must be said about the Villa of Hadrian between Rome and Tivoli. As columns would not do it justice, I shall merely say that, despite the fact that it was apparently allowed to start falling into decay shortly after Hadrian's death in 138 A. D., enough remains today to convince anyone that it was the last word in the magnificence of the Imperial Age.

The Villa covers an area of 170 acres and its excavation, commenced in the sixteenth century, has yielded some of the chief treasures of Roman art. One finds them constantly in the Roman museums. In the grounds of the Villa, too, is a cypress drive that I have yet to see equalled and there are many entrancing views.

UNIQUE CURIOSITY

And speaking of museums, the Museo delle Terme, occupying part of the ancient Baths of Diocletian, is one of which I never tire. It is full of treasures, but I mention only two and they are of widely divergent appeal. The first is the recently-discovered marble statue known as the Venus of Cyrene and to my mind, despite its lack of arms and head, the most beautiful female figure extant.

To the casual observer, the second is only a rude and scarcely visible scratch on a piece of plaster. It means nothing until its story is learned, but it then becomes one of the most intriguing objects in all Rome. This bit of plaster, which dates back probably to the first century, goes to show that the small boy's penchant for mutilating walls is from time immemorial and that human nature has changed but little throughout the ages.

Careful examination of this plaster discloses scratched on its surface a crude cartoon depicting a cross on which is nailed the body of a man with the head of an ass. At one side is the figure of a youth, apparently thumbing his nose at the crucifix, and beneath in Greek is the inscription: "Alexamenos Worships God." The graffiti was found in the ruins of a school for Imperial slaves on the Palatine Hill. Evidently, one of the youthful Greek servants was a Christian and one of his orthodox pagan brothers chose this method to taunt him.

SCHOOL TO KEEP CAPS AND GOWNS

A very appropriate room in the Home Economics Building has been equipped for the storage of the graduation caps and gowns. This small room is situated directly west of Miss Grave's office and has not been used for any definite or necessary purpose since the building of the new cafeteria. The caps are arranged neatly on shelves near the top of the room and the gowns hang below them. These gowns, totaling two hundred and fifty-five, were purchased this summer and will be worn by the graduating class of '28.

LEAGUE OUTLINES A CONSERVATION FOR NATION

To Conserve Our Outdoors, To Fight On the Side of Outdoor Recreation, Promote Propagation of Wild Life and Establishment of Recreational Places

The Izaak Walton League of America, national conservation and sportsmen's organization, which is especially active in this state, is about to initiate an expansion program with an object of nationwide conservation which it is claimed by local officials, will surpass anything ever undertaken in this line.

Seth E. Gordon, formerly executive officer of the Pennsylvania Game Commission, and largely responsible for the famous "Pennsylvania system" of wild life conservation, will be in direct charge of the conservation program, which will not only be national in scope, but will penetrate to every county in America.

In conjunction with the new objective of a comprehensive conservation survey, made with the cooperation of every one of the three thousand local chapters, a move is being started to enlarge the size and scope of the Walton League so that it will attain a status in keeping with the program ahead of it, and with the great part being played by outdoor recreation to a constantly increasing degree in the lives of the American people.

The League has been preparing for the new phase of its existence for the past two years, according to national and local officials, and its program contemplates the immediate formation of an organization to embrace a million members, and to establish Waltonism as the guiding star of conservation and of the promotion of outdoor life on a scale never before attempted.

The new expansion program, which will be carried on energetically by the United Walton League in all corners of America, will be closely linked with the plans for a memorial to Will H. Dilg, founder of the League and its guiding genius until shortly before his death last March, it is pointed out.

The national headquarters of the League at Chicago has been materially strengthened and enlarged for the work, and plans are being initiated to form a more closely knit state and community organization for the purpose of carrying out the new plans.

The Walton League is considered the largest conservation organization in its present status, that ever has been formed in the world, and it has attained a commanding position in recreational affairs in this country. It is a public welfare and service body in operation, is non-profit, non-political.

Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover is honorary president and an active member of the directorate of the League. Judge Jacob M. Dickinson, former Secretary of War and former President of the American Bar Association, is President, and among national officers and directors are Hal G. Everts, Irvin Cobb, Robert H. Davis, Jack Miner, George E. Scott, wartime general manager of the Red Cross, Glenn Griswold, Col. Theodore Roosevelt. The League is six years old.

It was founded by Will H. Dilg with the assistance and backing of such men as Emerson Hough, Zane Grey, David Starr Jordan, James Oliver Curwood, Dr. Henry Van Dyke, and many others prominent in conservation and public affairs.

Judge Dickinson's announcement of the beginning of the new expansion of the League points out that this movement is an effort to keep pace with the growing demand of the people for more outdoor recreation. "The objects of the League are threefold," he said. "First, to conserve our outdoors, to fight on the side of outdoor recreation as a natural resource of our country which must be considered on equal terms, and in some cases on superior terms, to the more tangible resources such as lumber, power and metals. Second, to promote the propagation of wild life, establishment of recreational places, so that there may be more fish, more game, more forests for

GERMANY LEADS PHYS. ED. WORLD

Germany, which has long lead in the various phases of education—in Germany there was started among other things the kindergarten—is now taking the lead in physical education. The teachers of the schools and the people are forming large groups where mass education can be given. Clubs of men and women are being organized for advance education for those who have completed the course offered by the larger groups.

The schools of Germany also include physical education. They have devised many new pieces of equipment in order to aid Germany to be one of the earth's healthiest nations. — Pasadena Chronicle.

GOVT EXPERT EXPLAINS RUBBER PLANT TO BOYS

Mr. Frederick W. Taylor, formerly connected with the United States Department of Agriculture in the Philippines and South America, told about the new rubber plant, the Guayule, in Conference Hall last Thursday.

The Guayule plant is valuable for the rubber that it yields. It was first grown commercially in southwestern Texas and is now being grown throughout California. The largest planting is near Salinas, California, where a tract of six hundred acres is planted.

The Guayule plant is a shrub about two feet high although it takes four years for the plant to mature. It is best adapted to a light soil where there is from fourteen to twenty inches of rainfall. Since this crop is so long in maturing it does not pay to raise it on expensive land.

The Guayule plant, when dried is ten per cent rubber, which is obtained by crushing the plant in a crusher filled with water. The rubber remains when the waste is drained off.

Mr. Taylor spoke to Mr. Perrin's and Mr. Alter's General Science classes and to Mr. Weldon's Economic Biology class.

TENNIS PRACTICE STARTS FOR YEAR

Led by Captain Howell, a player of experience, a squad of boys are out almost every night getting in trim for the coming tennis season. Mr. Altar has planned a contest by which a player may attain his proper rating by challenging the next player above him and so win his way to the top.

Only four lettermen are returning. "Bob" Allen, "Hal" Harlow, Capt. Howell and "Chiff" Little. Many more are expected out as soon as the other sports are over. The Chaffey tennis teams in past years have found no trouble in defeating every league school they have come up against. Chaffey tennis teams have won every league tennis championship since 1919. Chaffey has seen so many tennis championships that it is almost an established custom to take the cup.

GOAL POSTS ARE TO BE RE-PLACED

"The new punt catching ruling is a mistake," said Coach Hanson. He explained that the rule was not practical in as much as it did not place enough penalty on missing the punt.

The Coach said that the lateral pass would develop a stronger defense, but a team would not center an attack around this play. He thought the play would be used chiefly to score with when a team was close to the goal.

Coach Hanson said that he was very much in favor of the moving of the goal posts to the end lines as it lessened the danger of injuries. He also thought that it would develop better drop and place kickers.

Jack: "Pa., what are ancestors?" Father: "Well, I'm one of yours. Your grandpa is another."

camping, more clean streams, and more recreation for everybody. Third, to create and foster interest in outdoor recreation, especially among the younger Americans, to the end that the basic character of this nation may continue to rest on the health of mind and body which comes only from association with the outdoors."

MISS RUTH HARMS DELIGHTFUL HOSTESS—

A delightful informal affair of last Friday evening was the bridge party given by Miss Ruth Harms at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Harms, 889 East Ninth street.

Baskets of autumn flowers in which the gay zinnias predominated were the medium of decoration and tables were attractively placed for the game of auction bridge. Prizes at the close of the tourney were awarded to Miss Gladys Peterson and to Mr. Claude Love.

Following the play, Miss Harms assisted by her mother served a delicious repast to her guests, who were seated at the card tables and who numbered beside the prize winners, Miss Gertrude Shepherdson, Miss Sallie O'Brien, Miss Ann Jessup, Miss Marian Holden, Miss Ruth Coe, Miss Audre Bonnier and Jack Walker, John Stroh, John Voss, Paul Wentworth, Robert Coffin and Arthur Plum.

MARY HELEN HUBBELL HAS BIRTHDAY PARTY—

Little Miss Mary Helen Hubbell, who celebrated her fourth birthday anniversary on Friday, was the guest of honor at a delightful party given by her mother, Mrs. West Hubbell at her home, 712 East D street, Ontario, when she entertained a group of little folks.

Jolly games were played on the lawn during the afternoon and a fine new teeter-totter was the center of attraction.

At the close of the afternoon the little hostess and her guests marched to the dining room, where dainty refreshments were served by Mrs. Hubbell. A beautiful birthday cake, elaborately decorated with pink roses and lighted by four tiny pink tapers and delicious ice cream were features of the men and among the wee folks invited to help Mary Helen celebrate were Mary Hazan, Adell Jennings, Jeanne Aubrey, Lois Williams, Herbert Bealey, Lewis Cosner and Virginia Hubbell and Mrs. O. E. Cosner and Miss R. Purcel.

WASHINGTON STATE FOLKS TO HAVE HUGE REUNION—

All who ever lived in the Evergreen state are called to meet under the auspices of the Washington State Society for a great picnic reunion all day, Saturday, Oct. 8th, in Sycamore Grove Park, Los Angeles.

Go as early as possible and spend the day with old friends. There will be county registers and headquarters so all can find the old neighbors even with thousands present.

All will enjoy the program opening at two o'clock, songs, addresses.

Hon. Martin Korstad, president, will have charge of the day. The main purpose is to have a good time and to let the people talk. Tourists and visitors from the old home state are all wanted. Bring well filled baskets for the dinner hour. Coffee will be served free to all who buy the silk souvenir badges.

Each one who learns of this is asked to pass the word along. Further information may be had of the president or of C. H. Parsons, secretary of the Federation of State Societies, office in the Hotel Rosslyn, Main and 5th streets, Phone Faber 3300, where the Washington state register may be seen.

Realignment Of Upper Three Miles In Pass To Begin July 1 At $150,000 Cost—To Eliminate Curves

Surveys for the realignment and relocation of the upper Cajon Pass portion of the National Old Trails route were authorized recently by the California state highway commission.

Under a special fund of $2,400, work will begin immediately and as a preliminary reconnaissance already has been made, the final surveys should be ready within a month, it was announced.

Budget Provides $150,000

In the budget of Gov. C. C. Young $150,000 has been provided for the project, to become available July 1, next. It is expected that work on the new highway will start soon after that time and be carried to completion before the end of next fall.

More than a score of hazardous curves which annually have taken their toll in automobile accidents, will be eliminated with the completion of the project, which will start at Summit and extend three miles south to a point about a quarter of a mile north of the railroad crossing at Alray.

When the work is completed the National Old Trails route will follow practically a straight course from Summit to Alray, and it is planned ultimately to extend the work clear to the foot of the grade. While no definite plans have been made for this additional work, it is one of the projects which the highway commission here plans eventually to carry out.

While the present road follows an uneven course, with many small hills and dips, the new stretch will proceed on a practically even gradient, with no adverse grades, according to plans outlined. The distance between Summit and Alray also will be cut down appreciably, probably half a mile or more, because of the elimination of the many curves.

Will Utilize Present Road

Wherever possible, the present road will be used, and between these points a new highway, graded 30 feet wide, will be installed. An immense amount of excavation will be necessary, and the shoulders of several hills will have to be partly cut away to allow construction of the new road.

The $150,000 appropriation will probably have to be increased before the project is finished. It is planned under that amount merely to grade the highway, the paving to be done when additional funds are available.

Further Work Is Possible

Preliminary surveys have revealed the possibility of realigning the Cajon Pass route to provide a virtually straight road from Summit to the foot. However, it was pointed out that this is far in the future, and probably will not be completed for years.

As soon as the final surveys are finished the results will be forwarded to the highway commission headquarters in Sacramento. Here they will be checked and a set of plans and specifications drawn up. There is no special hurry, it was pointed out, as the funds will not be available until July 1.

Business First

"Are you engaged to him?" asked Miss Cayenne.

"Yes," answered the prudent girl. "But I have requested time to verify reports on his title and fortune."

"That is not an engagement. That is an option."—Washington Star.

Cucamonga - Alta Loma News

New Pastor to Preach Sunday
Cucamonga M. E. Church will welcome its new pastor, Rev. Donald Clary of the Los Angeles Bible Institute, at the morning services next Sunday, the new minister and his family, which consists of his wife and child, being expected at the Parsonage this week.

In the meantime, the Parsonage is undergoing repairs and fall house-cleaning, preparatory to their arrival.

Leaves for Home in North
Mrs. H. P. Swain, who has been enjoying the past four weeks visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Albert, of Highland avenue, and her two sisters, Misses Eleanor and Mary Albert, and brother, Henry, Jr., of Redlands, left early Sunday morning for San Pedro, where she embarked for Seattle, enroute to her home at Concrete, Wash., 115 miles north of Seattle and near the border line into British Columbia. Miss Mary Albert accompanied her to the harbor and saw her aboard, before journeying on to Los Angeles and Eagle Rock, where she is the guest for a few days at the home of her friend, Miss Mary Foraker.

Klusmans Land in Homeland
After a five months' trip abroad, the greater part of which was spent visiting Mr. Klusman's relatives in Germany, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Klusman and son, George, Jr., have arrived safely in America and are at present visiting Mrs. Klusman's brother and family and other relatives in Canada. It will be something like three weeks yet before they will be welcomed back to their Cucamonga home on the Foothill boulevard.

Lease Home of W. B. Harvey
Samuel B. Rowe and family, who have been living in the George Klusman home during their absence abroad, have leased the W. B. Harvey home in Estancia Court, where they formerly resided for several years. They expect to move the middle of October.

Woman's Club Opens
On Thursday afternoon of this week, members of the Cucamonga Woman's Club will gather at the home of Mrs. A. C. Beattie, in Archibald avenue, for the first meeting of the fiscal year. Mrs. Beattie will be assisted by Mrs. E. S. Bishop in entertaining the club. "Friendship Day" will be featured by "Vacation Talks" by members, music and the social tea hour.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Williams returned home Sunday evening after a delightful week-end visit with friends in Fallbrook, picturesque spot on the inland route to San Diego.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Kincaid spent Sunday with relatives in Los Angeles, the latter remaining over for a longer visit.

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Gilbert and family of Los Angeles were guests on Sunday at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Clifford Beekman and family, in Archibald avenue. A picnic dinner on the lawn at the noon hour was a delightful feature of the day.

Messrs. E. R. Hively and Arthur Capen, delegates to the annual conference Methodist Episcopal Church held at Long Beach last week, with their families spent several days at the beach city. Mr. Capen attending the conference on Thursday and Mr. Hively on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Thompson of Glendale were in the community Monday looking after their property interests on Church street.

Mrs. M. J. Reid, Miss Gertrude Reid and Mrs. E. S. Bishop, will represent the Cucamonga Women's Club at the luncheon given today at the Upland Women's Club in honor of the president, Mrs. W. W. Green, of the State Federation of Women's Clubs.

Miss Louise Beattie, Archibald avenue, enjoyed a delightful week-end and house party at Laguna Beach, motoring down to the coast Friday afternoon with some fourteen members of the McDowell Club from Chaffey High School, chaperoned by Prof. and Mrs. Earl Blakeslee, and making their headquarters at the Shattuck cottage. Hiking, swimming and other beach diversions made the happy hours of Saturday and Sunday pass all too quickly for the young folks. The return trip home was made Sunday evening.

Mr. Harry Lanport of Los Angeles was a guest at the home of his aunt, Mrs. Geo. E. Keyes, on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Wetly of Los Angeles were visiting their relatives in the community Sunday, among them Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Rupp and daughter, Miss Mary-belle of Base Line.

Mr. and Mrs. I. T. Jamieson, Archibald avenue, motored to Riverside last Friday, where they enjoyed the Southern California Fair.

Ralph Shoemaker, engineer for the Cucamonga Water Company, is driving a new Hudson Sedan.

Mrs. J. H. Williams will spend Tuesday and Wednesday visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Hillier in Los Angeles, Tuesday being her mother's birthday anniversary.

Cucamonga Girl Dept. Buyer
Miss Clara Young, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Sharp, Hellman avenue, who for the past seven years, has been a valued employee of the New York Store in Ontario, has accepted a position with the P. E. Ostran Company Department Store, Ontario, as manager and buyer for the Women's and Children's Ready-to-wear department, succeeding Mrs. Myrtle Keeney, who has been at the head of that department for some years, but since the death of her husband a few months ago, has been seriously ill and will probably be taken east by her niece as soon as she is strong enough for the journey.

Miss Young entered on her new duties last Saturday, Oct. 1st, at the Ostran Store. A few evenings previous, Miss Young was one of three guests complimented at a delightful affair at the home of Miss Ressa Moore, Campbell Apartments in Ontario, which was sponsored by the girls of the New York Store. There were three honor guests at the party, Miss Moore, who had just moved into the apartment, Miss Young, who had just resigned her position with the store, and Miss Mary

CHANCE TO WIN BIG MONEY PRIZE

More than $10,000 in cash awaits some woman in this city, according to an announcement made here today by Mr. W. M. Russell, manager of the Ontario Laundry. This is the first national prize in a great prize essay competition being staged by the laundry owners of the United States and Canada.

"Five thousand dollars is the second national award," Mr. Russell said. Other national prizes are: Third, $2,000; fourth, $1,250; fifth, $1,000; sixth, $700; seventh, $500; eighth, $400; ninth, $250; tenth, $100.

In addition there will be ten cash prizes for winners in the state of California. These are: First prize, $225; second, $125; third, $100; fourth, $50; fifth, $35; sixth, $25; seventh, $20; eighth, $10; ninth, $5; tenth, $5; a grand total of $29,400 for the 49 state groups.

Twelve thousand persons will receive honorable mention awards entitling them to a $2.00 credit for work at a modern power laundry.

"Any woman in this city and surrounding territory is eligible to enter this contest provided she is not connected in any way with the laundry industry or laundry supply industry," said Mr. Russell. "I hope that one of our fine women here will win the $10,000. We will do all we can to help her."

"All that is necessary is to write a 300 word letter giving the best reasons the writer can think of on the subject: 'Why the Laundry Should do My Washing,' and mail it to the $50,000 Competition Judges, Century Building, Indianapolis, Indiana, not later than midnight of December 1st, 1927."

Espinoza, who announced her betrothal to Efrén Orozco, of Nogales, Ariz. Each of the honorees was presented with a gift from the girls and the hostesses of the evening.
